Canadian Society for Spirituality & Social Work: Spirituality, Ethics and Social Work Competence

We invite you to join us for a workshop on ethical issues that arise when spirituality meets social work practice. N will guide us through an interactive workshop on spirituality and social work competence with the use of case studies. Participants will be welcomed to share their own experiences.

Meet our Presenter:

N serves at the Professional Practice and Advocacy Consultant with the Nova Scotia College of Social Workers. Prior to this role, N worked in several capacities, including providing community-based counseling, hospice and palliative care social work, community organizing, health care leadership and administration and teaching social work. N's doctoral research is in compassion fatigue and burnout for health care workers.

Date: May 19, 2022, 1:00pm-3:00pm AST
